

Common Pathway of Aerobic Respiration

It is known so because one of its step (glycolysis) is common to it as well as anaerobic respiration. Common pathway occurs in three steps - glycolysis, Krebs cycle and terminal oxidation (electron transport and oxidative phosphorylation).